REGION — NORWAY

Norway gives island buyers full freehold ownership and, as of 2026, remains one of Europe's most open countries for foreign purchasers. Some rural islands need a standard concession permit, and title transfers through a nationwide digital registry — fast, transparent and secure.

THE ISLAND

Three Peaks over the Sea

Storholmen rises from the Norwegian Sea in three distinct peaks — Sørekletten, Midkletten and Nørekletten — the highest reaching 67 metres above sea level. From the summits the view turns a full 360 degrees, stretching across open water to Stadt and Vestkapp.

THE SETTING

A Sanctuary of One Island

The listing calls Storholmen a historic island sanctuary: a grand ocean estate of rugged coastline and pristine native terrain, completely self-contained, where the pace is your own and the only neighbours are seals and sea eagles.

THE TRADING CENTRE

The Old Harbour Settlement

The island's eastern side is a beautifully preserved old trading centre — the architectural crown jewel of the settlement, anchored by a brick building that once housed a shop and a bakery with a traditional stone oven, above the harbour basin and quay.

THE RESIDENCES

Naustet & the White House

Naustet, a sprawling boathouse conversion, sleeps eleven in four bedrooms, with a dining table for twenty-four and a scenic balcony. The White House sleeps seven in three bedrooms, with a dining area for eight, a full kitchen and an outdoor terrace.

A NOTE ON IMAGERY

Some images in this listing's online gallery are AI-generated. Those images have been excluded from this brochure; every photograph printed here is a real photograph of the island.

LAND AND WATER

A Diver's Coastline

A newly constructed harbour and pier integrate with the historic quay, with a guest pier offering power and water. Below the surface lies a diver's paradise — crystal-clear water, sunken shipwrecks, kelp forests and sandy bottoms teeming with lobsters and crabs. Above it: ocean kayaking among seals and sea eagles, twenty-foot outboard boats for deep-water crab fishing, and an electric hot tub after the hike to the three summits.

KNOWN FOR

Its preserved trading centre — a brick shop and bakery with a traditional stone oven, above its own harbour.

SUMMER HIGH ±61°F · WINTER LOW ±32°F

BY BOAT

A Boat Island

Storholmen is reached by water, arriving at its own harbour — a newly constructed pier and historic quay with sheltered mooring, and a guest pier with power and water. The nearest mainland village is Selje, ten miles to the south.

THE GATEWAY

Vestkapp & the Airport

Vestkapp, the landmark tip of the Stadlandet peninsula, stands eight miles west across the water. Ørsta-Volda Airport, the regional gateway, lies 22 miles to the east, beyond the mainland shore.
