HIGH ABOVE THE SEA

Halo sits high on a dramatic cliffside at Oil Nut Bay, an organic design in native stone, steel and glass woven under a living green roof. The water is present in every direction: 360-degree water and island views, lush green topography and rising rocky terrain against a turquoise Caribbean Sea.

REGION — BRITISH VIRGIN ISLANDS

The BVI are the Caribbean's sailing capital, a British Overseas Territory of some sixty islands and cays. Virgin Gorda's North Sound is its most storied anchorage, with Eustatia, Necker and Mosquito islands gathered around one sheltered sheet of water.

THE GREAT ROOM

The Gathering Place

The great room is Halo's gathering place, a wide glass-walled living space whose curved sofa follows the arc of the house and faces straight out to sea. Glass opens the room toward the pool terrace, and the dining room beyond seats the whole house beside a living green wall, within sight of the water at every seat.

THE POOL AND THE WATERFALL

Along the Cliff Edge

The infinity-edge pool runs along the cliff edge, its waterline dissolving into the sea below. Beside it, a custom waterfall spills over native stone boulders into the pool, part of the rocky terrain the house was built around. A broad terrace and an outdoor patio with loungers give the house its sunset side, and an outdoor shower serves the pool deck.

THE PRIMARY SUITE

On the Main Level

The primary suite sits on the main level, a calm room with a sculptural timber headboard and a wall of glass curved to the view. Its ensuite bathroom runs along the view wall with twin vanities, and a deep soaking tub set in stone at the glass is positioned for soaking in the seascape.

THE GUEST BEDROOMS

Every Guest Faces the Sea

Four guest bedrooms complete the house: three with king beds and one with two queen beds, every one with its own ensuite bathroom and a sea view through walls of glass. The guest suites open to terrace seating above the shore, so each couple in the house wakes to the same water the great room frames.

LIFE AT OIL NUT BAY

The Cliffside Landmark

Oil Nut Bay itself is reached only by boat or helicopter, a private community at the eastern tip of Virgin Gorda with a beach club, a marina and dining shared by its owners. Halo is its cliffside landmark: sustainably designed, its green roof returning the building to the landscape, so that from the sea the house reads as glass, stone and water set into the hill.

KNOWN FOR

A cliffside landmark at Oil Nut Bay: an infinity-edge pool fed by a custom boulder waterfall, a living green roof, and 360-degree views of water and islands.

THE KITCHENS AND THE MEDIA ROOM

Set Up to Be Cooked For

Halo is set up to be cooked for: a gourmet kitchen with a breakfast bar for slow mornings, and a dedicated chef's kitchen behind it, fitted for catered evenings. The media room gives the house its indoor evening life, a deep sectional sofa under a ceiling fan with the sea still in frame through the glass.

ARRIVAL

By Boat or Helicopter

Oil Nut Bay, at the eastern tip of Virgin Gorda, is reached only by boat or helicopter. Most owners fly into Terrance B. Lettsome International Airport on Beef Island (EIS) and cross to Virgin Gorda by launch or ferry, coming ashore at the Oil Nut Bay marina. From there the community's paths climb to Halo, high on its cliff above the sea.
